Best HDTV

Panasonic VIERA TC-P50VT25 Plasma 3D HDTV

(Reviewed September 2010)

This Panasonic 3D HDTV offers all the strengths of plasma design, including flawless off-axis viewing and the best black level and shadow detail we've seen on a plasma set since Pioneer departed the display business. Add in great color and resolution, and you have a real value for the money. $2,600, panasonic.com

RUNNER-UP

Sony BRAVIA XBR-52HX909 LCD 3D HDTV, $3,600

Best SPEAKERS

Thiel CS3.7 Speaker System

(Reviewed June 2010)

The ultimate expression of Jim Thiel's decades in speaker design, the CS3.7 is one of the few truly great speakers on the market today. Loaded with proprietary technology from top to bottom, the sensational CS3.7 is both an instant classic and a lasting legacy for a legendary brand.

$18,790, thielaudio.com

RUNNER-UP

Bowers & Wilkins 805 Diamond Speaker System, $14,500

(Reviewed October 2010)

HONORABLE MENTION

Definitive Technology Mythos XTR-50 On-Wall Speaker System, $3,912

(Reviewed September 2010)

Best A/V RECEIVER

Arcam AVR500 A/V Receiver

(Reviewed August 2010)

For sheer performance, Arcam's A/V receivers are second to none. This one is the slightly less powerful sibling of the AVR600 ($4,999). Note that the HDMI version is 1.3, so you'll have to give up 3D compatibility in favor of oceans of warm, clean power. $3,499, arcam.co.uk

RUNNER-UP

Onkyo TX-SR608 A/V Receiver, $599

(Reviewed August 2010)
